Enjoining Rogers' Water-Tank.

The injunction suit of S. T. Burgess against William Rogers was on trial in the superior court yesterday afternoon, with Amos Burke representing the plaintiff, and engineer and West & Wheeler for the defendant. Three witnesses had been marshaled by Burke, and they were brought in to swear to a number of different things with regard to the kind of a place Rogers had been running. They were unanimous in their statements that the place was a saloon, and Rogers, but further than that they would not go. They had been in his place, and had drunk all sorts of things there, such as Coke water, Waukesha water, ice water, lemonade and other equally harmless beverages, but so far as they knew they had never seen any good whiskey strait or rum punch punches from Rogers' hands. After the testimony had been introduced the arguments of the attorneys were made, pro and con, and the matter was taken under advisement by Judge McGee.

A Tricky News Agent.

Will McCormick, a news agent running from Moberly, Mo., to Council Bluffs on the Wabash, has disappeared. Charles Conners and the news agent at Moberly would like to find him. Conners has been furnishing him papers, cigars, fruit and articles of commerce that go to make up the newsagent's stock in trade. McCormick had a bill for a bill of something like $50 when he turned up missing. He has not been seen since last Friday, when he left the train at Brunswick, and the agents of different lines of railroads, who have gone have been requested to keep a lookout for him. It is found that in addition to running a bill with Conners, he had disposed of a lot of merchandise, and the agents to Conners and pocketed the proceeds. A warrant has been issued for his arrest on a charge of larceny.

Ad McClure Has Another Frush with the Police. Officer Gorman arrested Ad McClure last evening at the corner of Twenty-fourth and Clark streets on the charge of drunkenness.

McClure evidently was not a champion tough of Omaha. He already has the reputation of being a very hard man to handle and it required the united efforts of the policeman and two citizens to hold him until a wagon arrived. It is said that McClure pulled a pocket knife and threatened to cut an ugly hole in the officer's side if he was not released. Gorman held on to his man, however, and he was placed in the patrol wagon. Patrol Conductor Cusick was obliged to sit upon the unruly prisoner until they reached the station.
Quite a crowd assembled in the street at the time of the arrest, which nearly blocked travel at the corner.

After suffering horribly for years from

Mr. R. L. King, 708 Franklin st., Richmond, Eisenberger's arrest he looked as though he face from which the blood flowed freely. The warrant was issued as asked for, but Eisenberger has not been arrested. The charge against him is assault and battery.

Protecting the Trees.

A. C. Graham, park commissioner, had an encounter with some of the representatives of the various monopolies that operate in the city yesterday, and he came out with colors flying. Considerable trouble has been had at different times with the telegraph and electric light companies, by reason of their recklessness in fastening guy wires to the trees in Bayliss park. When the police and fire box was placed at the corner of First avenue and Pearl street a pole was erected at that corner by the electric company for its wires. So stay the pole several guy wires were stretched from the top of the pole to trees in Bayliss park. The park commissioner on invitation issued orders to cut the wires removed, but no attention was paid to the order, which was given by Commissioner Graham.A few days ago the Postal telegraph company removed its headquarters from Pearl street to the Grand hotel. Several new poles were erected on Pearl street, one at the above named corner. The lines attached several guy wires to trees in that vicinity, notwithstanding the park policeman requested that the wires be removed. The commissioners and after a consultation, it was determined that the wires should come down. Word was sent the various companies, but no attention was paid to the order. The lines attached several
